

The American Pain Foundation recently held an interactive one hour webinar reviewing the symptoms, treatment and management of Fibromyalgia. It featured Dr. Daniel J. Clauw, who is Professor of Anesthesiology, Medicine (Rheumatology) and Psychiatry at the University of Michigan (UM) as well as the Director of the Chronic Pain and Fatigue Research Center at UM. Also contributing to this program was Dr. Robert Gerwin, an attending physician at the Johns Hopkins Pain Treatment Center. To see this presentation, go to the American Pain Foundation's dedicated page for current and upcoming webinars and teleconferences and then click on Maybe It's Fibro to view the replay of this webinar. (You will need Quick Time to view this media).

Permission to post this announcement was granted by the American Pain Foundation.