

The Chronic Fatigue Syndrome Advisory Committee (CFSAC), which is an official advisory committee within the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS), held its spring two day conference on May 10 -11, 2011. The committee has been meeting twice a year to review multiple issues related to ME/CFS (i.e., research updates, educational issues, healthcare, diagnosis, treatment, progress and setbacks) and make recommendations accordingly. Massachusetts CFIDS/ME & FM Association has prepared a summary of the highlights of the meeting. The videocast is also available for viewing.

Due to the amount of material covered over the course of this two-day meeting, a separate report was prepared for each day.

Read the summary of highlights from Day 1 .

Read the summary of highlights from Day 2.

Read the summary of committee discussion that concluded the CFSAC meeting .